

You can see how the objects are divided in the picture in a good way. This helps the person to know where to look.